EASTERN DATES TO JUNE 18

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

Dead Body Recovered—Improvements at Halsey.

HALSEY, June 20.—The body of Samuel Wilhoit, son of Mr. Wilhoit, of the Soda Springs, Marion county, who was drowned while swimming in a lake near Lancaster on Saturday evening, has been recovered and will be taken to Salem on to-day's passenger train for interment.

This town is being built up rapidly and lots are in active demand at constantly enhancing prices.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Some weeks since Lawrence Shorlock shot (supposed fatally) Thos. Melody, another Australian, for alleged over familiarity with his wife. Melody recovered, and to-day the case being called in the Police Court he did not appear to prosecute, and a statement being made that the case had been compromised, continuance was asked for, and it is now alleged that it was for the purpose of allowing Melody to leave for Australia to-morrow with the woman, that being the basis of the settlement of the case.

The steamer China having been thoroughly overhauled will be re-launched at the dry dock to-morrow.

The Supervisors this evening adjourned until July 12th.

The distribution of the late Fairmount Homestead Association, located near the Four Mile House, took place this evening. Premiums over cost of shares, ranged from $100 to $400 per lot.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

STOCKTON, June 19.—Eight new flat cars, one passenger coach and the new locomotive "Wm. Roelofson," arrived from Vallejo to-day, consigned to the Stockton and Copperopolis Rail road.

SUTTER CREEK, June 19.—Saturday at noon a committee from the Miners' League visited the various mines and notified the engineers and all men to stop work, particularly the hoisting of water. Everything is at a stand and the mines are filling with water.

CURRENT NOTES

The Pittsburgh Commercial says: When the South has had one or two convictions and executions under the Ku Klux law, she will begin to have peace.

The New York Times says: The Southern Democrats will have none of the Ohio platform. They want the "lost cause" revived and Jeff Davis is the only man for their money.

"Solidified beer" is the latest thing. It is lager beer concentrated the way they do it to milk, so that the amount you can hold on the point of a knife will make you drunk clear through. A man can carry enough of it in his vest pocket to ruin a whole temperance society.

The friends of Benjamin Sawyer, now in the Evansville, Ind., jail, under sentence of death, recently applied to the Governor for a reprieve. The Governor courteously responded that if Mr. Sawyer particularly desired the execution might be postponed three or four weeks. Mr. Sawyer was then consulted, and he calmly replied that he "didn't care a d—n, had as soon be hung next week as next month." The reprieve has not been granted.

How's this for Pickwickianism. The Galveston News of May 19th called Horace Greeley a "public enemy," the same paper on the next day is "sure that neither Mr. Greeley nor any other gentleman understood the phrase 'public enemy,' as used by us yesterday in any other than a kindly sense," although it admits that in its disgust for the New York habit of toadying to distinguished strangers "we may have erred on the other extreme and been a little brusque."

The New York Express says: They call it a "new departure for the Democracy" to endure what cannot be cured. Two roads lead to a river. By one the course is level plain and direct; the other is through tunnels, over valleys and rugged mountains. Democrats must be excused if they take the easier way of getting to the stream. We don't propose, to "swap horses while crossing the stream" nor to drown by dismounting but to stick to our way, and share if we can in the good work of rescuing the country from those who with whip in hand and spurs in full play are driving it to destruction.

It is interesting to note at how small an expenditure the work of the Freedmen's Bureau has been accomplished. The total expense in money has been $13,026,501 27; in goods, $2,330,775. These goods were unused army stores left on hand at the close of the war, and would hardly have realized half their cost at public sale. The collection of bounties has cost $277,605; transportation, $133,902 83; schools $3,572,65 94; while the whole amount expended in charitable purposes, including the old army stores at full cost, has been $7,677,590 96. Of these fifteen millions of dollars government has contributed but eleven millions, the remainder being taken from the Refugees' Fund—that is from rent of lands and buildings taken from the Confederates, from payments made by the freedmen themselves, and from army stores. It may be fairly asked whether any great national work that accomplished so much has ever cost so little.

THE TERRITORIES

Messrs. Jones & Brooks of Walla Walla, are arranging to ship 7,000 bushels of wheat to Portland.

A man named Walters was sentenced some time ago at Lewiston, to be hung on the 10th inst. The Sheriff did not execute the law and on the evening of the same day a mob broke into the jail, took Walters out and hung him.

From the Walla Walla [illegible]: The County Commissioners have revoked the order calling an election to vote upon the proposition to grant interest on $200,000 to the Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad Company. The proposition, as presented met so decided an opposition from the people that it was so plain that it would be defeated at the polls. So the Commissioners resolved to save the expense of holding an election.

The Walla Walla paper has this notice of the wool frauds: We learn that the lot of wool complained of was purchased by A. Frank, of Hardman & Co., Touchet. Mr. Frank says he saw the wool weighed after it was packed, that the lot consisted of twenty seven average sized bales, gross weight 5,053 pounds, that the bales were if anything under the average weight. The affidavits of persons who helped do the shearing and packing of the wool have been taken and sent below, in which they declare that the twenty seven bales could not have had one hundred pounds of dirt in them. Mr. Frank is of the opinion that a wilful mistake has been made at San Francisco, with the view of depreciating the price of Walla Walla wool, which has heretofore stood high in the market. We hope his view of the case will prove correct on investigation.

The Eastern papers have shown almost quite as much interest in the Fair-Crittenden trial as was felt by the press of California. Here is the last shot from the New York [illegible]: Mrs. Laura D. Fair, the central figure of the latest cause celebre in San Francisco, has been finally sentenced to be hanged. There is no telling what delay in the execution of this sentence may yet be procured by ingenious counsel, but, as we believe that commutation of judicial sentence is not permissible under the laws of California, it seems probable that the lovely and accomplished murderess will be hanged, unless the Governor should absolutely pardon her.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—The steamer City of Melbourne, the first vessel of the California, New Zealand and Australian English mail line, arrived to-day.

Figs appeared in the market to-day, the first time this season.

The ship Vesta cleared for Hongkong to-day with 440 barrels flour, Oregon extra and National Mills, the first cargo in some months for that side of the ocean.

In the case of Thomas Mooney, in bankruptcy, in the U. S. District Court, the motion to dismiss order for hearing, was to-day continued to August first.

The Ajax has been hauled alongside the wharf and will be fitted up for her trip to Honolulu immediately. The U. S. and English mails which were to have been sent out on the Moses Taylor to-morrow, will be carried by her on Thursday, the mail agents having concluded not to send them by the City of Melbourne, as proposed this morning.

News of the burning of the John Dalls quartz mill at Washoe is received to-day. Insurance, $80,000, of which only about $10,000 falls on a local company, the Pacific, all the rest being in New York, New England and Europe.

Judge Stanley to-day overruled the decision of Judge Sawyer, and held that keno, though not a banking game, is prohibited by the statute, and dealers and spectators are liable to arrest, fine and imprisonment.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

OROVILLE, June 19.—At the Republican County Convention in Butte county to-day, the following gentlemen were elected candidates for county officers: Judge, W. S. Safford; Sheriff, Samuel Daniels; Clerk, D. C. Norton; Treasurer, Wm. James; Recorder, W. H. Chappell; Assessor, J. C. Westabougher; District Attorney, J. M. Burt; Superintendent of Schools, A. S. Batchelor; Administrator, G. W. Severn; Surveyor, Jas. McGann; Coroner, John Dick; For Assemblymen, W. N. Dehaven, I. N. Turner. The State delegates are for Booth, and the county for Goodwin, for Congress.

WOODLAND, June 19.—The Democratic Convention met Saturday last. The nominations are as follows: For Assembly, D. B. Sutton; County Judge, Ed. Roberts; Sheriff, J. P. Bullock; County Clerk, E. C. Lawson; District Attorney, J. C. Ball; Treasurer, A. C. Kean; Superintendent Public Schools, W. H. Edwards; Public Administrator, L. Bush. The Republican Convention takes place to-day.

EXCURSION TO SOUTHERN OREGON

CONCLUDED.

JACKSON COUNTY—VALLEYS—ROGUE RIVER AND VALLEY—CROPS—CAPABILITIES OF SOIL—CLIMATE—SCENERY—EAST OF THE CASCADES—CRATER LAKE—RAILROAD PROSPECTS—MINERALS—INEXHAUSTIBLE RESOURCES—WESTERN OREGON.

Jackson county contains a larger area than the State of Massachusetts. In fertility, range of productions, climate and minerals, it is superior to that rugged State. But these are gifts of nature. Whether this will ever equal that in wealth, culture and influence, is a problem to be solved by the people themselves.

The county embraces eight thousand square miles extending across the Cascade mountains eastward, including the lake region of Oregon. There are several large valleys in this county, the most prominent of which are the Klamath and Goose Lake valleys on the east, and the Rogue river on the west.

Travelers on the stage pass through this region in the night, and are therefore unacquainted with its beauties by actual sight. The writer had passed through it three times, and although he had heard of its attractions, had no opportunity to behold them. The glimpses of it which the stage traveler catches do not disclose the best part of the valley.

Mountain ranges define it on every side. The isolation is complete. But the valley is so broad that it produces no sensation of confinement. The southern boundary presents for the most part a precipitous barrier, on the other sides are gentle slopes, climbing to a great height and rounded in verdant beauty. Some of these tops are clothed with grass of greenest hue, and some with giant firs, which in the distance look like shrubs. Anon, a bolder summit overtops the rest, crowned with spotless white.

Between these towering ridges is spread out one of nature's fairest scenes. It is a broad plain intersected by the swift flowing river descending into it from the Cascade range by a canyon of extraordinary wildness, through which it plunges with many a lofty leap. Into it from point to point flow the affluents which drain the adjacent vales, all bordered with deciduous and evergreen trees and oak openings, groups of trees and groves with lordly pine and fir overtopping them with stand procision diversify the prospect. In various directions appear isolated hills, some of which from peculiarity of form are worthy of a nearer inspection.

This valley is only a part of the area which may be properly designated the Rogue river region. There are other well defined valleys which take their names from streams that empty into the river. All of these contain numerous settlements.

The isolated position of these valleys naturally prompts the inquiry how they came to be so extensively settled. The wide range of production, ease of cultivation, and genial and salubrious climate give the explanation.

The capacity of the soil has been tested for twenty years. All sorts of grain, every variety of fruit known to the temperate zone and some belonging to the tropics grow and flourish here. Indian corn, so fickle in most places on this coast, is here a regular crop. Live stock was out on exhibition worthy of highest prizes. Splendid horses, strong sleek ponderous cattle, thick set fleeces crop the rich pasture, and the ever-grunting swine is pushing snout into more redundant fatness.

The climate is captivating. Some days in summer are very warm but a short term does not last long, and the mountains furnish delightful and very accessible retreats. The rains of winter are frequently suspended by cloudless skies, when sparkling sunshine and balmy breezes repel depression and make breathing a luxury. Rev. M. A. Williams, who has kept a meteorological record regularly for twelve years, reports a highly agreeable state of wind and weather, a remarkable equability of temperature, and a combination of climatic qualities which are highly favorable to health and longevity. Mr. Colver, who is known throughout the State and knows it by intelligent observation, selected this valley for a home, after having travelled over all the States of the Union except two. He raises upon his splendid farm a great variety of fruits of delicious flavor and regards the valley as able to compete with any agricultural region on the coast.

Mr. S. D. Van Dyke, formerly a member of the Legislature, gives good reasons for a high estimate of the capabilities of this region.

These are examples of views and opinions which are universally entertained by the inhabitants, and appear to be quite reasonable to strangers.

The larger part of Jackson county lies east of the Cascade range. The pass through the mountains presents some sublime views mingled with some of nature's strangest freaks. Beyond it on an elevated plateau among the mountains, is the "Dead Indian Country," which received its name from an occurrence which took place in the time of Indian hostilities. On this extensive table land snow falls early and stays till May. But the grass grows under the snowy fleece, and when that covering is melted off, makes amends for delay. The droves of cattle which left the shortened herbage of the plains, as the spring advanced and cropped the grass as they ascended towards the summit of the hills, wend their way in summer time through the pass, and plunge into the luxuriant pasturage provided on that elevated plain. Thither, not only the droves but the families also go and camp out for a season. Leaving artificial tastes at home, they seek natural luxuries. Putting an arrest upon fin and wing and hoof and levying an income tax upon vine and berry bush, they luxuriate in the choicest gifts of nature. The mountain air exhilerates. Rest on the bosom of Mother Earth recruits exhausted energies. Communion with nature in her unprofaned haunts tends to independence of character and simplicity of life.

Beyond this on the lake level is Fort Klamath and six miles from it the Klamath Indian Reservation. Further still is Lost river and Goose lake.

Near the Dead Indian country is Sunken lake, a great natural curiosity. Mr. James S. Howard, surveyor of Jackson county, related to the writer some particulars respecting it which he obtained by personal examination. It occupies a very lofty elevation, and exhibits with its surroundings a desolate scene. It must be fed by subterranean springs, since no visible stream, except rills from melted snow, ever enter it. Below it, and at a considerable distance from it, two streams glide away in opposite directions, one to Klamath river and lake, the other to Rogue river. If these proceed from this mountain reservoir, as is highly probable, they find their way out through subterranean cavities. The first view of it is very grand and thrilling. It discloses a chasm, like a vast excavation in the depths of which the silent waters reflect the surrounding gloom. Perpendicular cliffs, like walls of masonry, rise from the water's edge and prohibit all access to it, except in two places and the lowest point which overhangs the chasm, Mr. H. estimated at 830 feet from the surface of the water. Its form is elliptical. The narrow diameter he reckoned at five miles and the long one at eight miles, across. This great gulf looks like the crater of a vast volcano, whose fires were extinguished by an irruption of water. And from this resemblance it is proposed to call it Crater lake. A picture of this curiosity, probably the only one ever taken, is now on exhibition at Mr. Shanahan's in Portland. The painter, Mr. Sutton, now a resident of Portland, estimates the diameter at five or six miles by twelve miles. But I must return to more utilitarian themes.

As I was coming this way, men were looking northward. Here their gaze was divided. They were looking northward, and also toward the east. They were all looking for the locomotive. The announcement of a new railroad connection is received with enthusiasm. The California Pacific Eastern Extension Company proposes to enter Jackson county, near Goose Lake, send a branch track into this valley and another to Ogden to connect with the Union Pacific. The Oregon Central will place this valley on the main coast line and the new project will give it a direct connection through the trans-continental line with the vast network of railroads on the Atlantic side. The prospect is very bright. These connections will undoubtedly be made. And all of Western Oregon and Washington and the North Pacific coast will share in the benefit. Starting from Portland, travellers can then pass through to the Eastern States without change of cars, or being at the outset marked as way passengers, to be set down by a branch railroad, to wait for the train.

The settlement of this valley is connected with gold mining. Mr. Colver's surveys led to the discovery of rich placer diggings 20 years ago. And the search for the precious metal in the surrounding mountains, led to the discovery of gold quartz, silver, iron, lead, and inexhaustible supplies of coal. Here are the ores of both precious and useful metals and here is the coal to smelt them. Salt springs and medicinal waters also abound.

A vast amount of gold has been lifted from its native deposits, and carried out to enrich other localities—making the valley by so much poorer instead of wealthier. This seems to be the fate of mining localities. The yellow stream hastens to get away. It should be arrested, and made to irrigate the soil whence it first flowed. But no arbitrary law can effect this. The course which wealth takes is like the course of trade—it flows where it can be used and equivalents rendered for it. It is the old law of exchange and circulation, as inflexible as a law of nature. What the mining districts need then, is an intelligent population sustaining the institutions and promoting the ends of modern civilization, engaged in diversified pursuits, with cultivated tastes, happy families, attractive homes and local attachments. Such a community manipulates the law of circulation within itself, as well as beyond. It keeps the golden stream meandering in every direction sending off supplies on every hand, percolating the soil and distilling its drops like the dew.

The foundations of such a society are laid in this valley. The men and women are here who helped to lay them and now measure its course with joy. All honor to them! May they live to pluck the golden fruit!

It is well that the precious deposits of this State have not all been extracted. Western Oregon is probably as richly endowed with valuable minerals as any portion of the globe of similar extent of surface and no doubt the supply is inexhaustible. The introduction of varied industries will demand the extraction of these minerals, to be used at home or wrought for other markets.

Western Oregon is beginning to feel the mighty movement of our age. She hears the locomotive blowing the bugle of a grand march. Its sonorous blast is waking strange echoes in nature's solitudes. A few years of wise legislation, supported by intelligent and patriotic co-operation, will make her an empire in herself. Her three great valleys, interlinked by social and commercial, as well as political ties, uniting their advantages with those of the mountains and the sea, now invite an enlightened immigration to share in developing these inexhaustible resources.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 21 1871

Eastern Opinion

The practical success of the great Railroad Company of Pennsylvania in securing control of the New Jersey railroads and their enterprise in projecting a line from Ogden to San Francisco and thus inaugurating a continuous line from one ocean to the other excites the wonder of the Eastern press and of railroad projectors as well How greatly this new trans-continental line which will touch the southern border of Oregon and offer a connection through Umpqua and Rogue river valleys with all the best portions of our State will affect our interests and promote Oregon s growth and development deserves to be considered It opens the way for one of the principal railway connections that is essential to our general system it gives vitality and purpose to the construction o a railroad from the Wallamet into Umpqua and Rogue river valleys, and contributes to Portland s advantages as a railroad center or terminus The Philadelphia Press in the course of a long article on the subject holds that this road will be a powerful auxiliary in building up a rival in this quarter to the commerce of San Francisco, and expresses a belief that Portland will in a few years be that rival mart

The Prospect in Ohio

Advices from Ohio state that Democrats are by no means united in support of the new movement taken by their party Republicans on the other hand, are greatly elated with the turn matters have taken A large minority of the Democrats they say as shown by the vote in the late Convention, do not believe in the new platform, and will give it at best but lukewarm support, while those who hope to catch Republican votes will surely be disappointed since the more conservative men in that party will reason that, if the Democrats are ready to admit that during all these years they have been in the wrong while the Republicans have been in the right, there is no [illegible] for them to desert their friends and [illegible] the same flag on a ship named and commanded by their late enemies Besides they say, the 'new departure ' really means nothing the Democrats have only formally admitted an accomplished fact which though they shut their eyes to it and stoutly denied its existence, had become so firmly established that they were unable longer to deceive even their blindest and most ignorant followers in regard to it

The Civil Service

[illegible] a recent act of Congress a Civil Service commission has been appointed by the [illegible] This Commission is authorized [illegible] at Washington Its duty will [illegible] examine the whole subject of the Civil service and to prescribe such rules for the admission of persons thereto as may be deemed best calculated to promote its efficiency The plan contemplates an inquiry into the [illegible] of [illegible] candidate in respect to character [illegible] and ability for the service [illegible] enter George William [illegible] writer in Harpers' Weekly, and Joseph Medill of the Chicago Tribune, both [illegible] been among the ablest advocates [illegible] civil service reform," are leading members of the commission

Says the New York Herald The views of President Grant on the question of a reduction of the taxes as expressed to our correspondent at Long Branch, will meet with general approval [illegible] suggestions which he intends [illegible] Congress next winter he will urge the removal of forty millions of taxes, which is about equivalent to saying that he favors the abolition of taxes upon everything except the luxuries of whisky, malt liquors and tobacco No one can complain of the retention of a tax on these articles, for the person having an objection has the remedy with himself to correct any injustice in the law

The St Paul Press states that the engineers of the Northern Pacific have found an excellent line through central Dakota, striking the Missouri near the mouth of Hart river and passing through a much better country than the northwesterly route originally projected by the way of Devil's Lake This line—the more southern one—has been adopted as the [illegible] railroad and the western end of the Minnesota section has been relocated to [illegible] the new line through Dakota, [illegible] the Red River south of the mouth of [illegible] The work of grading the road [illegible] rapidly pushed forward

In the case of Milligan, who was arrested in Indiana [illegible] in the time of the war for conspiring against the Government, and who afterwards brought suit for heavy damages [illegible] Judge Drummond of the United States Court said the other day ' It [illegible] that defendants were performing their military duty and that their conduct was approved by the highest officers of the nation This principle commends itself to every sensible mind, and we doubt if any [illegible] this generation will ignore it in passing upon such issues as Milligan's case presented

The census of Washington City presents some interesting features Every State and Territory in the Union, with the exception of some of the very youngest of the Territories, is represented in the nativity of the people The population of the city born in the United States is 60,038 whites, 35 391 colored and 13 [illegible] Of the foreign, there are natives of all the continents, and upward of fifty countries and eleven born at sea The greatest number from one country is 6 948 from Ireland, from Germany there are 4 133 and from England 1 235 The total foreign born population is 13,757.

According to the State returns in 1865 the value of the boots and shoes in Massachusetts the previous year was about $52 000 000 and the number of hands employed 55 160 At the same time the leather business employed more than 4 000 persons and produced a value of some $17 000 000 more At the present time it is probable that the annual product of these branches of industry is more than $100,000 000 in Massachusetts, and that they employ, off and on not less than 75 000 persons

From the tone of the Southern press it would seem that the " new departure ' bids fair to create a movement that will keep the Southern wing of the party out of the Democratic National Convention Already such a course is much talked of in the South

The Editorial Rencounter at Roseburg

We have already given the Plaindealer's account of the affray at Roseburg the following is that of the Ensign

On Sunday last, about 10 o clock A M as Messrs Henry and Thomas Gale, editors of this paper were walking through town, near the Post Office, where they went to mail some letters, preparatory to visiting some friends in the country, they were met by Wm Thompson publisher of the Plaindealer, when a conversation was commenced by Henry Gale in a friendly manner After some words on business matters Thompson commenced abusing Messrs Gale for criticising him in the Ensign when upon their replying that they should insert such matter as pleased them best he threatened them in case of repetition with personal violence which words were followed by others from Thomas Gale reminding Thompson that his assault upon him the evening previous was both brutal and cowardly which sentiment was repeated by Henry Gale who further remarked to Thompson that instead of assaulting a mere boy as his brother was he should attack him Other words following, Thompson raised his fist and struck at Henry Gale which was returned by the latter and upon Thomas Gale advancing to his brother s rescue, Thompson brought to view a derringer and fired at him, the ball taking effect in his breast passing inward, when instantly Thomas Gale, then reeling fired at Thompson the ball merely grazing his side having passed through papers in his side pockets This was the first and last shot of Thomas Gale, who became disabled while the combat was continued by Henry Gale and Thompson, the latter striking the former over the head with a derringer with one hand, while with the other he held him Henry Gale in the meantime retreated up the sidewalk, with his right hand struggling in his pocket for his revolver which he drew forth and fired at Thompson both parties being clinched and it was not until several shot were fired (Mr H H Gale affirms that he fired another shot at him which seems quite probable as his neck has a crease more resembling the mark of a bullet than a blow from a pistol) that Thompson released his hold and ceased his assault with the derringer There were we believe four witnesses to the commencement of the lamentable affair one lady and three men only one being near enough to render assistance and he owing to the frequency of the firing was compelled to retreat out of the way therefore knowing but little about it

Thompson received several shots which were subsequently extracted and he is doing well The shot received by Thomas Gale is not yet extracted, and it is causing him intense suffering, and may yet prove fatal Henry Gale is recovering rapidly and will soon be about The cowardly assault referred to by Thomas Gale, at the commencement of the affray, was as was then stated apparently premeditated, and unprovoked an attack by Thompson upon Tommy Gale the latter being unarmed and defenseless. It occurred the evening previous to the shooting, by Thompson kicking him and then spitting in his face calling him at the time the most insulting epithets, and afterwards insolently boasting to a number that he could abuse the Gales and even spit in their faces and they dare not resent it All of which seems to indicate that the opportunity was anxiously courted by Thompson to compel the Gales to defend themselves with weapons, and then as if in self defense to return a deadly fire During his assault upon Gale the evening previous, he distinctly told him with fearful significance that if he repeated his personal criticisms in the Ensign he would kill him These threats of personal violence together with various intimidations from the Plaindealer, commencing with the first issue, were standing challenges on the part of Thompson to those who dared to refer to him personally in opposite journals Messrs Gale, as our readers are aware have studiously avoided returning any such menacing threats but on the contrary have treated them rather in a humorous manner We most deeply regret the unfortunate circumstance here related, but are obliged to notice this as another of those unavoidable events forced to bloody issues, by haughty pride, self assumed superiority and animal revenge

Incidents of the Watkinds Clarke Affair

We have some items of information from Salem relative to the Watkinds Clarke affair which we believe have not yet appeared in print We therefore append them

The trial of Watkinds will probably take place soon, as Court meets the present week For the prosecution, Messrs Mallory, Knight & Lord and Ben Hayden will appear On the other side Messrs Willis Boise Shaw, Logan Curl and pretty much everybody else are employed Judge Bonham will try the case, and without doubt, impartially The community at Salem, without regard to politics, generally denounce Watkinds to justice. Some of the leading witnesses are Democrats, and they condemn Watkinds' conduct utterly

It is now known that the affair was a planned thing and a select party was stationed at windows etc , to witness it. When Watkinds attacked Clarke with the cowhide the latter got out his pocketknife drove him off the sidewalk and got the cowhide away from him Then Watkinds began firing, with the result heretofore stated When they arrested him two men had to help him up stairs, and on reaching the Justice s office he sank into a chair with "Give me air I m dying ' I'm dying ! He claims that he thought he was fatally cut and shows his watch case which is cut through to prove that he had reason to think so

UNFORTUNATES —Soon after the close of the rebellion, a large number of Southerners who embraced the lost cause, embittered by the result of the war, determined to emigrate Two colonies were formed one in Mexico and the other in Brazil The fate of these colonies are almost identical After years of suffering and privation, those who could came back to the United States, glad to return with life From Brazil, many were sent back at the expense of the Government, and a few—either ashamed to return or unwilling to acknowledge their mistake—still drag out a miserable existence in the lands of their penance rather than adoption The experience of the Brazilian colony has been the hardest and saddest Most of those who remain in Rio Janeiro are reduced to beggary One of these emigrants who had been an influential man in the South a prominent politician and Mayor of his native city, sells bad spirits to thieves in low groggeries The fate of these emigrants cannot but awake general sympathy in their favor

A recent writer says that the fences of the United States have cost more than all the craft that float in our waters salt and fresh more indeed, than any other class of property except railroads

'Kate ' writes a note, the subject of which is that a girl may be sure a man loves her sincerely when he sits in her presence for an hour without speaking

REGATTA AT SHOALWATER BAY

OYSTERVILLE, June 16, 1871

EDITOR OREGONIAN—SIR At the request of many of your subscribers here, I desire to inform you that we have established a Yacht Club in Shoalwater Bay, and that our first annual Regatta will come off on the Fourth of July

There are already thirty boats entered, and as we claim to have some of the finest boats of their class on the Pacific coast your readers who are lovers of aquatic sports will be well satisfied should they pay us a visit on that occasion

I remain yours respectfully,
THOMAS SMYTH,
Secretary S W B Y C

HOLLADAY'S ADDITION ON WALLAMET —This component part of the pretentious city which sits on the eastern bank of the Wallamet appears to be getting along thrivingly Within the last week or two, while the people on this side have been comparing water notes, the builders over there have been making quite a change in the general aspect Ten or twelve buildings for residences have either been put up or foundations laid and some of them are going to be handsome edifices Others are making preparations to build, and altogether the state of things looks promising It only needs that the ferry shall be so regulated as to run regularly and often, to induce many others to locate there and build residences It is sure to become a popular and fashionable location An enterprise is now on foot to furnish all the houses on the high ground in the neighborhood of J B Upton's residence with pure spring water Wells all along the front tiers of blocks and in McMillen's Addition can be sunk cheaply, and most excellent water is obtainable at the depth of 25 to 30 feet Among other valuable improvements to be made this summer is the Fourth street bridge across the canyon, to connect East Portland with Holladay's Addition This is now under contract. Ben Holladay donates $3,000 toward it, and the remainder of the amount is made up by subscription. The bridge, we understand, is to be built up to the street grade Another important enterprise has lately been organized—the building of a Congregational Church Dr Mack, Mr. Abrams and Jas McMillen are the Trustees to locate and superintend the erection of the church They have accepted the generous donation of a quarter block from Ben Holladay, situated not far from the Avenue, and steps are being taken to exchange this site for one fronting directly on the Avenue We are informed that the prospects are good for the erection of the church the present season

P T CO'S STEAMER.—The new steamer launched the other day by the P T Co will be ready for service, it is said, in about six weeks The name to be given her has not been fully decided upon. She is a considerably larger boat than either the Senator or the Alert whose successor she is to be, and is to be finished in better style than either

BUSY —Messrs Sutzel & Upton, and Russell Ferry & Woodward, are each running two or three teams this week into the country, with immigrants who are looking for farming lands

MASONIC —A considerable number of Masons took the afternoon train for Salem yesterday, to attend the interesting ceremonies heretofore mentioned

FOR TILLAMOOK —The schooner Mila Bond will sail this morning for Tillamook, with thirty tons merchandise, wagons, household furniture, etc

ROWS —There were two or three rows yesterday to clear up the grudges of election day, but nobody was seriously hurt

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Valuable Hints.

A regular habit of body is absolutely essential to physical health and clearness of Intellect Nor is this all Beauty of person cannot co exist with an unnatural condition of the bowels A free passage of the refuse matter of the system through these natural waste pipes is as necessary to the purity of the body as the free passage of the offal of a city through its sewers is necessary to the health of its inhabitants

Indigestion is the primary cause of most of the diseases of the discharging organs and one of its most common results is constipation This complaint besides being dangerous in itself has many disagreeable concomitants —such as an unpleasant breath a sallow skin, contaminating blood and bile hemorrhoids, headache, loss of memory and general debility

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters remove all these evils by removing their immediate cause in the digestive organs and regulating the action of the intestines The combination of properties in this celebrated preparation is one of its chief merits It is not merely a stimulant or a tonic or an antibilious agent, or a nervine, or a blood depurent or a cathartic but all these curative elements judiciously blended in one powerful restorative It lends activity and vigor to the inert and enervated stomach relieves the alimentary canal of its obstructions and gives tone to the membrane which lines it gently stimulates the liver, braces the nerves and cheers the animal spirits No other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues It is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine Experience has proved that it is as harmless as it is efficacious and hence it is as popular with the weaker sex as with the stronger

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold in bottles only and the trade-mark blown in the glass and engraved on the label, is the test of genuineness Beware of counterfeits

Hands that Make Good Bread.

I own the charms of rounded arms
 Of eyes that love a soft lustre shed
Of raven hair and tresses fair
 Of cheeks that coy with white and red
Of pouting lips where Cupid dips
 The arrows that to hearts are sped
Yet none of these my fancy please
 Like the bonny hands that make good bread

Some hands have art to move the heart,
 By waking music's sweet appeal,
Some borrow dyes from perfect skies
 And through the canvas, make us feel,
Some make the dress fair forms caress
 To win the heart and turn the head
For me more rare beyond compare
 Are bonny hands that make good bread

Gay maiden, va n the rustling train
 Those jeweled hands so idly crossed
That idler mind can pleasure find
 In every hour ignobly lost
Your jewels shine, your looks are fine
 But I ll not seek, where er I wed,
For jeweled hands or gold and lands,
 But for bonny hands that make good bread

Southern Political Sentiment.

THE NEW DEPARTURE

It is the want of backborne on the part of the Democracy of the North, said the Savannah (Ga) Republican on the 21st of May, that is discouraging and disheartening their Southern allies This servile tone it continued—we quote its exact words—must be changed before the Southern Democrats can be induced to co-operate with any heart in the next Presidential election

Quickly the Columbus (Ga) Sun quoted these sentiments and said "The Republican is correct" And going further in its great frankness, it added "If we wish to be free we must not lean on others, but strike the first blow. God will help those who help themselves If we, of the South, are citizens of the Government, our voice should be heard and heeded in the formation and expression of its policy and legislation, and that voice, feeble though it be, should never sound the suppressed notes and whispers of slaves or hypocrites Let us resist by tongue and pen, but by the sword, the first and last, and every invasion of our rights under the Constitution."

JEFF. DAVIS

Henry W Hilliard, as he introduced the ex-President, " as they called him, to the people of Augusta, on the evening of May [illegible], when the Democratic citizens turned out to greet him, used these words as reported in the leading Democratic paper of the city, the Constitutionalist "We are here to welcome you I do not know that any higher tribute can be paid to any man than that we offer to you this evening You see before you those who come to offer you the tribute of their respect and admiration History will vindicate you." "I know you were not rash You did what you could to save the Republic, to promote peace, to adjust the quarrel I do not now propose to review the dread drama that closed in the overthrow of the Southern cause That is not a lost cause It is the cause of constitutional liberty, and will yet triumph "

ANECDOTES OF RICHARD BRINSLEY SHERIDAN.—Sheridan was once staying at the house of an elderly maiden lady in the country, who wanted more of his company than he was willing to give. Proposing one day to take a stroll with him, he excused himself to her on account of the badness of the weather. Shortly afterward she met him sneaking out alone. "So Mr Sheridan," said she "it has cleared up." "Just a little, ma'am, enough for one and not for two "

As Sheridan was entering court one day, carrying his books and briefs in a green bag according to the custom of the time, some of his brother barristers, thinking to play a joke [illegible] some boys to ask him if he had [illegible] for sale in his green bag. [illegible] responded Sheridan "they are all new suits."

Those who are in the habit of telling prodigious stories ought to have good memories, but unfortunately their memories are generally short. Richard Brinsley Sheridan dealt with these men [illegible] in a manner peculiar to himself He would never allow himself to be outdone by a verbal prodigy Whenever a monstrous story was told in his presence, he would endeavor to outdo it by one of his own coinage and consign the narrator to confusion by a falsehood more glaring than his own [illegible] in his hearing a sporting adventurer [illegible] "I was fishing one day, say in a certain spring full of delicious trout, and [illegible] a large mess But what was really surprising, not a foot from the cold spring, there was one of boiling water, so that when you wanted to cook your fish, all you had to do was to pop them directly into the spring "

The company all expressed astonishment and incredulity at this monstrous assertion, with the exception of Sheridan. "I know," said he "of a phenomenon yet more surprising [illegible] fishing one day, when I came to a place where there were three springs. The first was a cold one stocked with fish, the second a boiling spring, and the third a natural fountain of melted butter and parsley "

FRANKLIN AND WHITEFIELD—AN INTERESTING REMINISCENCE —In his biography of the celebrated evangelist, Whitefield, just published [illegible] Mr. J, P Gladstone gives this anecdote:

It was not only the ignorant and excitable that yielded to the extraordinary fascination of Whitefield's oratory No shrewder listener [illegible] of him than the celebrated Benjamin Franklin, and how little even he was able to resist the charm is shown by his amusing story which he tells of himself Whitefield had consulted Franklin about the locality of his proposed orphan house but had refused to act on his advice, and [illegible] Franklin not to [illegible] "I happened soon after," says Franklin, "to attend one of his sermons, in the course of which I perceived he intended to finish with a collection, and I silently resolved he should get nothing from me I had in my pocket a handful of copper money, three or four silver dollars, and five pistoles in gold As he proceeded I began to soften, and concluded to give him the copper. Another stroke of his oratory made me ashamed of that and determined me to give the silver, and he finished so admirably that I emptied my pocket wholly into the collector's dish, gold and all " If any one could have resisted the spell, one would have thought it must have been Chesterfield, yet even of him it is said that on one occasion when Whitefield was [illegible] a blind man groping his way [illegible] toward a precipice till he stumbled [illegible] edge in the act of taking the last fatal [illegible] over, the peer could not help springing forward in an agony from his seat, exclaiming Good God! he is gone'

A Sullivan county, Indiana juror, being fined for contempt of court, coolly requested the Judge to 'charge the fine, and wait till harvest for the money

PURIFY THE BLOOD

In these months

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Cures all eruptions of the skin

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Cures the worst form of blood diseases

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Enters heavily into the circulation of the blood

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Beautifies the complexion
All powders and outward applications destroy the skin, rendering it harsh and coarse Look at the skin of old maids and those who have used such any length of time
My advice is to discontinue that and use

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

One bottle is equal in strength to one gallon of the syrups or decoctions as usually made and a wine glass added to a pint of water equals the celebrated Lisbon Diet Drink Try it this way
A delightful beverage

How to proceed in the spring and summer months to insure new life new blood, new vigor Purchase two bottles of

HELMBOLD'S SARSAPARILLA,

and one box of
PILLS—worth their WEIGHT IN GOLD
No better investment can be made for so small a sum

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU
HAS ACQUIRED A WORLD WIDE FAME

All of my preparations are meritorious A period of twenty years has PROVED THIS to be the case

See remarks made by Benjamin Travers, F R C S Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury he states that no remedy is equal to the extract of Sarsaparilla, its power is extraordinary more so than any other drug I am acquainted with It is in the strictest sense a tonic with this invaluable attribute that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious

WM R WARNER & CO ,
154 North 3d st Philadelphia Pa.

H T HELMBOLD—ESTEEMED FRIEND We congratulate you on having the handsomest and at the same time the MOST EFFECTIVE PILL that we have ever known for the purpose intended
WM R WARNER & CO

H T HELMBOLD will remark in conclusion, that his remedies are the result of long and careful study The Fluid Extracts have been before the public twenty years the sale of them in that time proves their value All have been benefited by them who followed my instructions and to-day they stand UNEQUALLED in the extent of their sale and UNSURPASSED by any Medicament in the Dispensatory of the United States not excepting a single HERB ROOT, PLANT or scientific preparation

Pharmaceutical I claim all mine to be, and I have never patented a single one

To dispel any impression or prejudice that might exist in the minds of many against my Preparations from the publicity given, through advertising and that I am and have been a druggist for a period of 20 years and more conclusively to prove this see letter

[From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the world]

NOVEMBER 4 1854

I am acquainted with Mr H T Helmbold, he occupied the drug store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise,

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman, Manufacturing Chemists 9th and Brown sts Philadelphia

ALL STAND ON THEIR MERITS

The pill I have thought of offering to the public for ten years [illegible]

They are now perfect, and I shall stake my time money, and fame on their effectiveness The mode of styling in which the Pill itself is made the bottle label wrapper—all show with what care they have been prepared After examination no English or French preparation will show greater care and I am really proud of them

Instead of the nauseous looking carelessly prepared Pills [illegible] and put up in wooden boxes and [illegible] generally or offered by those having no experience as physicians druggists or manufacturers of medicines test the medicines offered by your obedient servant
